Diet & Lifestyle

Vegetarian | Vegan | Jain | Eggs OK

Foods to avoid (comma-separated)

egss,non-vergetarian food

Goal

General wellness

Health considerations (optional)

e.g. diabetes, pregnancy, medicines

Anything else about your goal? Avoid including details you do not want to share.

Optional; unsafe or medical goals will not produce a plan

Build educational plan Ask a follow-up question Print

Learning profile: Vata + Pitta · Selected season: Sharad

Save my plan

The general food and routine ideas below come from cited public-health sources; they are not tailored to your dosha, season, or a medical condition. Any additional items extracted from your documents are identified separately and may be unreviewed drafts.

* Pulses (lentils, chickpeas, beans, dried peas): WHO lists pulses such as lentils, chickpeas, beans, and dried peas among healthy carbohydrate sources [WHO: Healthy diet]. * Fruit (fresh, frozen or canned without added sugar): WHO includes fruit in a varied healthy diet and notes that fresh, frozen, or canned fruit can be suitable when canned options have no added sugars or excess sodium [WHO: Healthy diet]. * Vegetables (fresh, frozen or canned without excess sodium): WHO includes vegetables in a varied healthy diet and notes that fresh, frozen, or canned vegetables can be suitable when canned options have no added sugars or excess sodium [WHO: Healthy diet].

Food ideas to include

Whole grains (oats, millet, brown rice) Public health guidance

Pulses (lentils, chickpeas, beans, dried peas) Public health guidance